HITLER, DUCE DISCUSS U. S.

ROME, Oct. 4 (AP)—Usually well-informed Italian sources hinted that relation between the Rome-Berlin axis and the United States were discussed today as Premier Mussolini and Adolf Hitler conferred for three hours in the Brenner Pass. Also considered, a high Fascist authority indicated, were plans for extension of the war against Britain on all fronts—including Egypt.

At the same time the Italian press stressed the possibility of a long war and declared Germany and Italy were bringing their production facilities to the peak of efficiency, determined to fight Britain to a finish regardless of the length of time required to assure victory.

The conference between axis partners, who met in the same Alpine setting last March 18 to co-ordinate their plans for reshaping Europe, took place in an armored train on the Italian side of the frontier.

THREE-HOUR SESSION

The midday meeting of the two leaders, here in the Italian Alps where their two realms join, lasted for three hours, ending at 1:30 p. m. At that juncture Hitler, Mussolini and their foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, went to lunch in the dining car adjoining the Duce's

BULLETIN

ROME, Oct. 4 (INS)—An arrangement whereby France would join the war as a military ally of Germany and Italy against Great Britain was discussed by Mussolini and Hitler in their conference at the Brenner pass today, according to information here.

The two dictators explored the possibilities of concluding an immediate final and extremely moderate peace settlement with France. In exchange for the generosity, the Italian government would promise full military co-operation with the axis.

parlor coach, perhaps to continue their talks informally over the luncheon table.

After the luncheon was concluded Hitler and Mussolini left Brenner aboard their armored train, the Fuehrer at 2:40 p. m. and the Duce five minutes later.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

A communique issued at lunch time said:

"Within the framework of the ordinary exchange of ideas, the Duce and the Fuehrer met today at Brenner for a cordial reunion conducted within the sphere of the axis."

"The two chiefs during three hours examined, in the presence of Foreign Ministers Count Ciano and Von Ribbentrop, all the problems confronting the two countries."

"General Von Keitel attended the last part of the talk."

"Conversations then were continued during lunch at which the two foreign ministers took part."

Anti-aircraft guns formed a guard around the meeting place.

Without actually disclosing the topics under discussion, a well-informed Italian source said the talks did not concern Soviet Russia, Spain or a peace move. In reply to a direct question he said it was possible the leaders were discussing the relations of the axis

JAPS THREATEN WAR AGAINST U. S. TO END STATUS QUO IN FAR PACIFIC

TOKYO, Oct. 4—Japan will declare war upon the United States if that nation enters the European conflict or insists upon preservation of the status quo in the Pacific, Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told this correspondent today.

Baby Kidnaper Gets Life Term

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Oct. 4

(AP)—Wilhelm Muehlenbroich was sentenced to life imprisonment today for the kidnaping of three-year-old Marc DeTristan, Jr.

The German alien was sentenced exactly two weeks after he snatched the little boy from a Hillsborough street in what he planned as the "perfect kidnaping."

He stood as though transfixed as Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt pronounced sentence.

In the first interview he has granted since assuming his duties in the new cabinet of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, the American-educated foreign minister said:

"Japan will be compelled to fight the United States if our sister nation on the shores of the Pacific enters the war in Europe."

In the first definite official clarification of the recently signed tripartite military agreement pledging Japan to fight alongside Germany and Italy in the event war involves the United States, Matsuoka said:

"If I find this challenge to America:

"If she in her contentment is going to attack blindly and stubbornly to the status quo in the Pacific, then we will fight America."

"For it would be better to perish than to maintain the status quo."

With his blunt warning that Japan would spring to arms without delay if the United States joins the war against the axis powers, Matsuoka expressed the hope that America, despite her desire to aid Great Britain, would hesitate before

Japanese Blast Stirs Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—

War threats against the United States uttered by Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka created a sensation in Washington today, President Roosevelt and Sec. of State Hull reading the dispatch with keen interest while members of Congress expressed sharp resentment.

Matsuoka's assertions were branded as "most astounding and bellicose," by Chairman Key Pittman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

The ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, declared Matsuoka's threat makes "it very plain that if we continue our provocative acts we will be in a war with Japan."

Pittman said: "The interview is the most astounding and bellicose statement made in recent times by a foreign minister of a great country. It is plain from his statements what he means by Japan's 'new order' in the East when he says: 'Japan can no longer be

Rice's 'Admissions' Explained to Jurors

EDGARTOWN, Oct. 4.—Capt. John F. Stokes, ace of Massachusetts state detectives, went back on the stand today in Rice murder trial to explain the obtaining of an admission the defendant is alleged to have once made regarding his guilt.

MRS. BEATRICE LAROCHELLE AND DAUGHTER, JANET
Their Kidnapers Gets Seven and Half-Year Term

U.S. Adds 3½ Years To Kidnapers' Term

Sentence of three and one-half years in federal penitentiary was imposed today in federal court on Almon W. Corliss, 44-year-old Contocook, N. H., lumberjack, in the kidnaping last June 18 of a Winchendon woman and her seven-year-old daughter.

Corliss already had been sentenced in state court at Worcester to serve seven to ten years in connection with the same case, on charges of kidnaping and assault and battery. The federal sentence is to be served after the state term. The lumberjack, World War veteran who, seven years ago, received six months in an alleged conspiracy to murder James Jolly, a Royalton farmer, to collect insurance, was alleged in the present case to have kidnaped Mrs. Beatrice Larochelle, 29, and her daughter, Janet, in Winchendon.

The federal complaint charged kidnaping and transporting kidnaped persons in interstate commerce. In recommending a sentence of five years, Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward D. Haasan characterized Corliss as "a menace to society and a culture one who should be put away for life as a protection to women and children."

Corliss' counsel, E. S. Dean, made a plea for leniency, however, declaring to Judge George C. Sweeney that the lumberjack, who served 17 months overseas as a motorcyclist, is "a victim of the World War who, on the border line of sanity and insanity."

It was alleged that Corliss offered Mrs. Larochelle and her daughter a ride to their home in Maple pl., Winchendon, but instead drove them to Rindge, N. H.

Mrs. Larochelle reported later, and testified in court, that when she screamed in protest, Corliss produced a revolver, pressed it into the little girl's side and threatened to kill the girl if the mother would not stop her cries.

At Rindge, she said, as the car was being driven into a side road, Corliss was compelled to slow down for a large truck, and the mother and daughter were able to leap from the machine and escape.

On trial is R. Huntington Rice, 54, New York elocution teacher charged with the sex slaying of Mrs. Clara M. Smith, 74-year-old Dorchester widow and Christian Science reader, who was his pupil at the Rice School of the Spoken Word here.

Captain Stokes followed on the stand Edwin H. Hauver, court stenographer, who testified Rice had not been abused by police during questioning.

ADMISSION, THEN DENIAL

The state detective chief, under a lengthy cross-examination, left direct testimony of prosecution witnesses undamaged.

Capt. Stokes declared Rice was not placed under duress at any time and supported previous testimony that Rice first admitted guilt, then maintained he was innocent.

Defense Atty. Frank Volpe brought into the record the name of Harold Tracy, an electrician at the Rice School, but the court declined to permit reference to Tracy's background.

The electrician was questioned several times in the course of the crime investigation.

GIRLS ON STAND

Meanwhile today a parade of former girl pupils began, following dramatic charges that Rice knew of Mrs. Smith's death hours before the time he contends he had knowledge of it.

Martha Stingel of Walton pk., Melrose, and Joanne Sokol, 15, of White Plains, N. Y., described nightmare-like noises and moaning and groaning which they said they heard on the fatal night Mrs. Smith was beaten to death.

In answers to questions asked by Dist. Atty. W. C. Crossley before and after his arrest, Rice was quoted as saying he was a victim of nervous disability and incoherence.

UNABLE TO SLEEP

On the murder night, June 30, last, he went to bed at 10 p. m., but was unable to sleep, according to the transcript. He was quoted as saying he went for a walk, returned to bed and sang to himself for an hour from a repertoire of 150 concert selections.

It was his habit to do this when-

MRS. MILDRED CHANDLER WITH TWINS, JOYCE AND JANICE
She Is Fighting Husband's Suit for Divorce

BLONDE IN DIVORCE SUIT VISITS TWINS

Today, blonde Mrs. Mildred Joyce Chandler, Everett wife a salesman was testified to have paid $350 to kiss, visited the twin daughters for whom she is fighting her husband's divorce suit.

Following testimony in Middlesex Probate Court yesterday of a swimming party a la nude, in which Mrs. Chandler was said to have participated, of attempted suicide on her part, of her sharing her bed with her husband and another woman, the case was continued until Monday.

On this first day of the recess, Mrs. Chandler drove to the home of an Everett family where her two-year-old, brown-eyed twin daughters, Janice and Joyce, are being temporarily boarded.

"Hello, darlings," she said, as they ran to her arms.

WON'T GIVE UP TWINS

Mrs. Chandler later said she believed the divorce suit might have been settled out of court had she been willing to give up the twins to her husband, Milton H. Chandler, 24, electric refrigerator repairman.

"I never will, though," Mrs. Chandler said, repeating the direct testimony that she made in court yesterday in answer to a question by her lawyer, Atty. John W. King. "I love my children and I want them with me."

Mrs. Chandler has one other child, a son, Milton Chandler, Jr., three.

BLONDE ON STAND.

Chandler, the son of Harry H. Chandler, head of a large Boston mercantile report concern, is asking freedom from the blonde whom he married when she was only 15, and with whom he started family life on $12 a week.

Taking the stand in her own defense, Mrs. Chandler testified that after her husband had filed his divorce libel against her they were reconciled and resumed their marital status following an automobile ride in which their problems had been discussed. Hostile at first, she said, they were later drawn together by mutual affection.

The young wife and mother sobbed bitterly as she declared she loved her children and wanted them in her care. She denied testimony that she had gone on a gay swimming party minus a bathing suit, and declared that after her marriage she had had no men friends. Referring to payment to Chandler of $350 by a man who had allegedly kissed her, Mrs. Chandler said her only share in the money was $35, which she spent for baby clothes.

SURPRISE BABIES WIN HIM DIVORCE

George R. Nickerson of Brainard rd., Allston, forgave his Nova Scotian wife, Margaret, when he returned there after a year's work in Boston and found she had a two weeks' old baby.

But he couldn't forgive her when he returned home a second time and found another baby—just two weeks old—and a man in the house "young enough to be her son."

That was Nickerson's testimony today in Suffolk Probate Court which won him an uncontested divorce decree. He was one of a score of persons seeking to have marital knots severed.

TOO MANY BABIES

Nickerson told Judge Dillon he married the former Margaret Lucas in 1913 and came to work in the United States in 1923. The following year he returned to Nova Scotia and found her first surprise baby.

The second surprise baby arrived six years later, he testified, whereupon he left her and returned to Boston. He had sent her money regularly until he learned she had married the young man.

Mrs. Roselia Spillane of Elmwood pt., Roxbury, in her uncontested petition, testified John L. Spillane celebrated his release from jail by breaking the furniture.

TELL OF BEATINGS

On one occasion he beat her after she had discovered his too-friendly relations with her former school chum, she said. She was granted a decree and custody of three children.

Mrs. Helen Anderson of Sixth st., South Boston, testified John F. Anderson had beaten her for telling him she knew of difficulties he was in with the police over another woman. She was granted a decree.

Mrs. Alice C. Ames of Saranac st., Dorchester, won a decree from Robert E. Ames.

Patient No. 1,000,000 at Boston City Hospital, Mrs. Elsie Hanley of Charlestown, rested comfortably today while doctors and nurses paid court to patient No. 1,000,001, her tiny, seven-pound daughter.

Mrs. Hanley, millionth patient admitted to the hospital since its founding in a small building in 1864, made a dramatic arrival last night in a siren-toting ambulance after her husband, Joseph, a WPA worker, telephoned "emergency" to police.

She was greeted by hospital officials, reporters and photographers.

Today Mrs. Hanley, mother of three others born at City Hospital, was visited by Dr. James W. Mahary, superintendent, and other physicians who pronounced 1,000,001 on the hospital list as "normal and improving."

The excitement gave Mrs. Hanley a slight relapse shortly after the baby was born at 2:41 a. m., but doctors said she was recuperating rapidly.

The maternity ward where Mrs. Hanley and her daughter are patients, is only a single division of the hospital, which now has floor space equivalent to 20 city blocks and facilities for 2000 patients.

"If I'm lucky to be the millionth patient," avowed Mrs. Hanley, "then surely my daughter will be a million-dollar baby."

F. D. Inspection 'Waste of Time'

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (AP)—Chairman W. Frank Roberts of Maryland's Council of Defense and Resources today classed President Roosevelt's recent defense tour of Maryland as "futile" and "wasting time."

He asserted in an address before the Reciprocity Club, a civic organization, that the official party, which included William S. Knudsen, production chief of the National Defense Commission, "saw nothing of importance at Aberdeen" and found the doors of the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft plant shut.

"So we saw nothing at the Glenn Martin plant," he added.

"The Governor was there, and the two Senators from this state. There were three or four congressmen, a general or two, and a couple of admirals."

Roberts said the trip was "purely non-political, of course—I think this was proved by the fact that I was the only Republican in the group."

F. D. Quotes Axis Aim to Beat Him

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt quoted today a newspaper dispatch saying that "the axis is out to beat President Roosevelt" when asked at a press conference whether he had "any reason to believe Germany and Italy are working for your defeat in the election."

The news article was a New York Times dispatch from Rome. When, after the quotation, he was asked whether he had "any reason" to believe the story was true, the President replied he was just quoting the press back at reporters.

The quotation read by Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Moreover, the axis is out to defeat President Roosevelt, not as a measure of interference in the internal policies of the United States, but because of the President's foreign policy and because of everything which he stands for in the eyes of the Italians and Germans."

Saltonstall to Fill $20,000 Bench Post

Governor Saltonstall is expected to nominate on Wednesday a Norfolk County attorney to the most lucrative position on the Massachusetts bench.

The justice of probate and insolvency in Norfolk County—paying more than $20,000 a year—was vacated with the death Wednesday of Judge Joseph R. McCoole of Dedham.

Salary is $10,000 annually, but the judge is designated automatically as executive of several wills—including that of Lotta Crabtree at $7500 a year.

Only a substitute can fill the gap until a permanent appointment is made, and as custom restricts candidates to lawyers in the same county, observers today were picking favorites for the Governor's choice expected to be given the executive council Wednesday.

WILLKIE CALLS FOR U.S. UNITY

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN. Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 4 (INS)—A call to bring America back to unity, economic progress and "a national defense so strong that no puny dictator will seek to strike" was issued today by Wendell Willkie as he stopped at the Pennsylvania State capital en route to Philadelphia.

Greeted by a crowd of 35,000, the Republican nominee assailed the New Deal for its "waste and extravagance" and the "haste and disunion" he said the Roosevelt administration has fostered.

Willkie praised Senator James J. Davis, Gov. Arthur James and urged the election of Jay Cooke, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate.

"If I can do nothing in this campaign," Willkie said, "except bring back a sense of national unity and if I succeed I will be satisfied. I have asked in this campaign to be taken to the sections where men work and where hate and disunion has been preached for the last seven and a half years."

"People say, 'How can you provide jobs?' I say end class hatred and revitalize industry and the 9,600,000 unemployed will disappear from the relief rolls."

"There are no distractions—I call America back to a unity and when I do that I call it back to economic progress and a national defense so strong that no puny dictator will seek to strike."

"Dictators will strike only when they think we are weak and we will be weak if this group stays in power and continues to preach its doctrine."

After his Harrisburg stop, where he spoke from the steps of the state capitol, the Republican candidate was scheduled to move on to Philadelphia, carried by President Roosevelt with a 210,000 majority in 1936. Meanwhile he was pleased with his reception in Pennsylvania.

Cafe Owner Freed in Death

Findings of no probable cause on a manslaughter charge and not guilty on a charge of assault and battery brought against a West End restaurant owner as the result of the death of a West End welfare worker were made in municipal court today.

Walter Nowick, 28, proprietor of a restaurant in Stanford st., took the stand at the request of Judge Charles L. Carr and testified he ejected Edward Kadgis, 68, of Leverett st., following an argument over the amount of ham in a five-cent sandwich on the night of Sept. 9, 1940.

Although he admitted giving Kadgis a slight push after which the man fell down, Nowick denied the man was hurt and said he assisted him to a nearby doorway.

Sneeze a Minute Perils Girl's Life

CLARKSVILLE, Ark., Oct. 4 (AP)—Miss Juanita Lillis, 21, of Lamar sneezed about once a minute today while her physician sought some means of relieving the paroxysm.

Dr. Earl H. Hunt said the 115-pound girl was sneezing rapidly under the attack of sneezes. He asserted that he had "done everything I can think of and unless she stops soon I am going to try putting her completely to sleep."

ROSEMAN DRUG, 2 Seelye St., Only, Boston

F. D. Lists Speeches for Midwestern Tour

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Johnstown, Pa., and Columbus, O., were added today to a tentative itinerary for President Roosevelt's trip next week to defense projects beyond the Alleghenies.

One formal speech will be made at Dayton, O., Oct. 12. Mr. Roosevelt will broadcast to all the western hemisphere a report on preparedness.

The tentative schedule, released today by the White House, calls for him to leave Washington shortly before midnight Oct. 10 and stop at Johnstown the following morning.

His train will take him to Pittsburgh shortly before noon. There he hopes to inspect the Carnegie-

Illinois armor plate mill and various other machine plants and industrial units turning out products for national defense.

Mr. Roosevelt is to reach Youngstown, O., in midafternoon to tour industrial plants. The White House mentioned specifically the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. plants.

Next the special train will move to Columbus, where Mr. Roosevelt will leave it about 10 a. m. the next day to visit Fort Hayes, headquarters of the Fifth Army Corps area.

After an hour in Columbus he will move on to Dayton, to visit the armys Wright Field, Wright Memorial, Veterans' Hospital, and the home of James M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee when Mr. Roosevelt was on the ticket as the vice-presidential candidate in 1920.

The President listed an address for the week of Oct. 21, but told reporters he had no expectation of speaking in Madison Square Garden Oct. 28.

The Democratic national committee had leased the Garden for the 28th. It was there that the chief executive made the climax speeches of his 1932 and 1936 campaigns.

Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know yet whether the speech he plans for the week of Oct. 21 should be termed political or non-political.

and suggested that newsmen would be able to judge it better than he. Probably, he said, it will be delivered from the White House to a small audience.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated that he would participate in a celebration of the construction of the 100,000th apartment unit of a United States Housing Authority project in Pittsburgh, Oct. 11.

BROOKLINE SURGEON VANISHES

Boston and State Police today sought Dr. Bryant Davis Wetherell, 54, Brookline surgeon with offices in Kenmore sq., after his wife, Mrs. Caroline Wetherell, had reported the surgeon missing since Tuesday.

The search was concentrated around Hyannis. Mrs. Wetherell said that Tuesday her husband telephoned her he was at Hyannis but indicated he was starting back to Boston.

Since then, however, she has heard nothing from him, she said.

According to her report to the Boston Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Dr. Wetherell, a graduate of Harvard Medical School in 1917, was driving a gray sedan.

She described her husband as 5 feet 6 inches tall, with a full face, dark complexion and a cleft chin. He wore a brown gabardine suit and gray hat.

Rayburn Sees F.D., Then Asks Recess

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—Speaker Sam Rayburn called for a clear-cut recess of Congress "for a definite number of days," following a conference with President Roosevelt today.

Rayburn was accompanied to the White House by House Majority Leader John W. McConack. They reported that the House "certainly ought to be through with its business by Monday or Tuesday."

"Then we will try to make some kind of an arrangement," Rayburn said, but he shrugged his shoulders as to the ultimate nature of it.

F. D. CALLS LEADERS

Mr. Roosevelt at his press conference said he had called the Congressional leaders to the White House to try and find out if they knew what Congress was going to do.

Leaders sent word today to absent colleagues to return to Washington for an adjournment showdown.

The absentees were ordered to be on hand Monday, when a decision is expected on the question of keeping Congress in the capital to meet European war emergencies, or sending the members home until after the November elections.

30-DAY RECESS REJECTED

The call went out after Administration leaders turned down the latest compromise offer of the powerful bipartisan coalition which, throughout the adjournment battle, has favored a series of three-day recesses, with no business to be transacted, until after elections.

The coalition's latest proposal was for a 30-day recess with Senate and House leaders given authority to reconvene Congress on short notice. Administration leaders rejected the offer, interpreting it as an insinuation that President Roosevelt could not be trusted to deal with the emergency.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley, clinging to a hope that a majority of Senate and House Democrats can force a recess until after the elections, predicted the issue would be settled Monday or Tuesday, on completion of the legislative program.

DRAFT INTERPRETERS NEEDED

Massachusetts today appealed for volunteer interpreters to aid in the registration, Oct. 18, of men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, for selective military service.

Adj.-Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, state director of the draft, explained that in certain areas there are large numbers of foreign-born citizens and aliens who will require the services of interpreters during registration.

"All persons qualified to act as interpreters are urged to immediately contact local boards or election commissioners, to insure a smooth and efficient registration," said Gen. Erickson.

Gov. Saltonstall, in his proclamation Sept. 25, stressed the necessity for voluntary cooperation.

"I call upon all patriotic citizens to offer their services without compensation to local election officials," the governor stated. "Massachusetts has always stood ready to assume her duties in the national defense."

The third of six information booklets being printed and distributed to registrars and election officials by the federal government, was expected momentarily. This volume deals with "Classification and Selection" as a guide for registration.

Boston Jewry Prays To End Persecution

With prayers that humanity and justice prevail over arrogance and oppression, Greater Boston Jewry today faced a New Year and a period of worship and atonement.

The Hebrew year 5701 was greeted by Rosh Hashanah, or New Year, services in all temples and synagogues. The holiday ended at about last night for reform Jews and tonight at sundown for orthodox Jewry.

Rabbis in special services generally stressed the permanence and worth of humanitarian ideas and the menace and error of present nationalism. Prayers were said for deliverance of persecuted brethren in Europe.

On Saturday, Oct. 12, Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement, will end the most solemn season of the Jewish year. The pious Jews spend the last 24 hours in prayer and meditation, abstaining from food or drink.

Columbus Day Fete To End in Parade

More than 10,000 persons are expected to march through downtown Boston and the North End Sunday, Oct. 13, in a parade celebrating the centenary of Columbus Day.

Other events include a banquet at the Hotel Blandford Friday night, on Saturday, games at North End Park, a concert at Paul Revere Mall, dances at Parkman Bandstand and fireworks at Wood Island Park, East Boston, and on Sunday an outdoor high mass in North End and a procession in North End Park on Sunday.

14 Harry K. Thaw Host To 1000 All-Comers

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4 (AP)—To the strains of Tschai-kowsky and Beethoven, interspersed with jive tunes by a five-piece orchestra, Harry K. Thaw, one-time millionaire playboy, threw open his new home to "all comers," invited through a newspaper advertisement.

Nearly a thousand "men over 18, women over 16" wandered last night through the town mansion purchased recently by the former Pittsburgher. They drank numerous bottles of soda pop, perched on packing cases scattered around the house and watched Thaw eat dinner in the kitchen.

Near the end of the evening Thaw entered into the spirit of the occasion, went around shaking hands and passing out pamphlets, which he said he wrote, on the Belton food situation.

Now robust, Thaw said he intended to occupy the house this winter and spend his time playing bridge. He became a national figure in 1906 as a defendant in the Stanford White murder case. At 9 p. m. one of 10 detectives watching over the visitors shouted "all out." The orchestra broke into "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Goodnight Angel," and a few people left.

Twenty minutes later Thaw went upstairs and the crowd thinned. One man who wanted "to look for a friend upstairs" put on an impromptu wrestling bout with a detective and was finally ejected. At 10 p. m. lights went out and the "big housewarming" promised on a sign outside the door was over.

Rome Army Shifted to Greek Line

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 4 (AP)—Italian army forces in Albania, totaling 150,000 men and 124 tanks, have shifted their positions to new posts near the Greek frontier in the past few days, official sources said today.

Troop movements from Italy to Albania, Italy's newly acquired territory in the Balkans, have been frequent recently, and numerous ships are visible in the Adriatic to speed additional forces across the narrow sea if needed, Greek government circles said.

ENVOY KENNEDY TO QUIT?

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy will resign his post as ambassador to the United States, according to a November 1935 London Evening News report today.

Although the American Embassy neither confirmed nor denied the report, the London Daily Telegraph also carried it and went on to state that William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, was the likely next successor.

Rumanians Fly Over Oil Fields

BUCHAREST, Oct. 4 (AP)—Fifteen Rumanian battle planes flew on a defensive reconnaissance "flight" over Hungarian oil fields Bucharest authorities said today as they pressed an investigation of alleged British sabotage plots against Greek shipments for Germany.

Some of the planes were German-made Messerschmitts.

Secret police questioned for hours A. Miller, director of the British dominated Astra-Romania Oil Company, who was suddenly turned over to them today by persons reported to have kidnapped him two days ago.

CAPTURED NAZIS NEAR U. S. LINE

During a study of Canada's war effort and defense system, W. W. Chaplin discovered that hundreds of German prisoners of war are lodged within a few miles of the American border. Here he presents their story in the fourth of a series on Canada's war work.

By W. W. CHAPLIN
International News Service War Correspondent and National Defense Expert

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 4 (INS)—Approximately 10,000 German prisoners of war are held under armed guard in Canada, and I found today that hundreds of them are within easy rowboat distance of the United States.

But I was convinced by personal investigation that there is virtually no possibility of Nazi war prisoners escaping across the border.

In all of Canada there have only been 10 escapes so far among the thousands of interned prisoners, and nine of those have been recaptured. And at least in the southern part of Canada the prisoners are kept in old forts with thick stone walls and heavy iron bars which make escape virtually impossible.

AND IN PRISON

I visited one such prison today, old Fort Henry on the St. Lawrence at the eastern end of Lake Ontario, and spent an afternoon with the 800 prisoners incarcerated there.

There are all types of German prisoners in Canada. There are men from the trenches captured before the British expeditionary force with which I spent last winter in France was driven from the continent on collapse of France and the low countries. There are sailors from German submarines and parachutists who failed in their mission. These are crews of German ships seized by British men-of-war and there are even chaplains who ventured too near the front lines during raids.

Hundreds of men in such uniform loitering in the great paved square of the fort or lounging on the balcony running along the second story living quarters gives a false air of gaiety that is only dispelled by talking with the men themselves.

All such talking, by order of the Geneva convention on such matters, must be done through one man, an elected spokesman for the prisoners, known as Port Henry, this man is Hans Minck of Bremen, first officer on a freighter which was returning to Germany from South America when it was picked up by a British patrol. We stood together in the courtyard, glum-faced prisoners in their gay garments moving all about us, and I asked him how they were treated. "NOT SO GOOD."

"Not so good," he told me. "We are not given our rights. That will all be taken into account when Germany completes her victory."

His chief grievance was that there was no Lutheran minister to hold services, although the Geneva convention directed that war prisoners must be given the solace of a minister of their faith.

Aside from that, Minck told me that mail was uncertain, that the prisoners felt incoming mail was withheld from them and that their own letters home were never sent at all. I satisfied myself that the mail system was efficient and honest, the only restrictions being that all mail is read by prison officials, both incoming and outgoing, and that the prisoners can only write one letter and one post card a week.

Nazis Blast Big Airport, Arms Plant

BERLIN Oct. 4 (AP)—Bombings of a 244 works in northwestern London, situated plants in Coventry and Chester, in England's industrial Midlands, and of British aviation camps were reported by the German high command today.

A communique said the air war against Britain was carried out yesterday despite bad weather, but informed sources said the attacks were materially reduced from the previous scale.

Hangers, barracks, runways and airplanes were reported destroyed in attacks on an airport in Cornwall. In a raid on a fliers' camp at Sheerness, on the south side of the Thames estuary, direct hits were reported on troops and barracks.

Columns of trucks transporting troops north of London were declared to have been scattered.

Only three British planes and four German planes were reported lost.

Authorized Nazis today claimed British shipping losses, since the start of the war at 7,000 tons. Britishers, meanwhile, enjoyed a respite from air raid alarms—getting their first uninterrupted sleep in six nights.

Reestablishing the heightened aerial warfare for September, German informants said the British dropped 752 bombs on German territory but that only 16 per cent of these hit military targets.

Forty-eight per cent of the British bombs fell on open fields, it was claimed, while 51 per cent fell on civilian objectives such as workers' settlements, schools, hospitals and churches.

British plane losses during August and September were put at 214 against only 706 for Germany.

The latest German figures would indicate that British shipping losses have averaged nearly 1,000,000 tons a month since July 1. Up to that time Germany claimed to have destroyed 4,329,213 tons.

(British have declared their shipping losses to be far less than claimed by Germany and to have been more than offset by damage acquired from Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Holland and France and by new construction.)—Editor's note.

Atlantic Fleet To Get Big Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—Location of several additional battleships, one aircraft carrier, and some heavy cruisers in the Atlantic appeared in prospect today as the Navy moved closer to creation of a two-ocean fleet.

At the same time, Secretary of the Navy Knox and Admiral James O. Richardson, commander of the main battle force, prepared to meet in Washington for a discussion of the Far Eastern situation and its relations to operations of the American fleet in the Pacific.

Navy officials refused to disclose the exact number of additional heavy warships that will be placed into the newly-created Atlantic patrol force. In announcing creation of the new force, the naval high command confined itself to the assertion that the Atlantic fleet would be composed of more than 125 vessels of all types.

It is learned, however, that the navy probably will add at least six to ten heavy war vessels to the Atlantic patrol as soon as ships now under construction are completed.

U. S. FATE DISCUSSED BY AXIS

toward the United States in line with the whole war perspective.

Officials did not deny reports that Ciano and Von Ribbentrop might confer with Russian Premier Joseph Stalin at Vyacheslav Molotov after the Bierner meeting but said that nothing was known of this possibility in Rome.

Mussolini's train arrived at Brinnar about 10 a. m. (3 a. m. EST), two hours after that in which Count Ciano left Rome with the German ambassador, Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen. Steffani, official Italian news agency, said the meeting was arranged suddenly.

STALIN OUT FOR PRESENT

Although Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish minister of government, remained in Rome where he has been conferring with Italian statesmen, Fascists said he would have no further conferences with Mussolini thus apparently emphasizing Spain's exclusion from the subjects under discussion.

Spain's position as a non-belligerent has been settled for the time being, it was indicated.

In the little border town of Brennero, in Brenner pass, there was, of course, no word as to the precise nature of the dramatic, unheralded conference, one of a series in which the Führer and his partner have planned world shawing events.

Despite the unheralded nature of the parley, the entourage from Berlin and Rome mustered a show of ceremony never lacking from such events.

While the morning sun gilded the Alpine peaks and strove against the fog lying deep in Brenner Pass an Italian band played the Nazi and Fascist anthems. Hitler and Mussolini flung out their arms in the Nazi and Fascist salutes and shook hands on the red, flower-banked carpet spread on the station platform.

WARM HANDSHAKE

There was a display of warmth in the handshake of the two leaders, Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Dino Alfieri, Italy's ambassador to Berlin, accompanied Hitler.

After the brief meeting, the Führer and Il Duce crossed the platform to Mussolini's train and shortly after 11 a. m. began their talks in the presence of Ciano and von Ribbentrop.

While the conference was in progress Berlin sources declared that the very fact that Hitler and Mussolini were meeting was indication that big things were in the offing which might become evident soon. These sources expressed the greatest indignation that the meeting was revealed prematurely, saying the movement of the chief of state was a military secret.

EVENTS CAST SHADOWS

As for the significance of the Bierner Pass conference, these sources said:

"Remember that when both statesmen met last March the enemy power was in bad shape. Events have a way of casting their shadows before them."

Virginio Gayda, Mussolini's authoritative press spokesman, made an oblique reference to the United States in the Gionale d'Italia.

Specifically, he attacked Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida and remarked:

"Some United States politicians who are obsessed with the idea that the United States is the center of the world grossly misunderstand the facts."

Axis Loses Destroyer, 9 U-Boats

27 since the air siege of the capital began.

During the afternoon alarm two bombs fell in an East London district, damaging four houses in which eight persons were believed trapped. It was London's first raid since dawn.

At least six high explosive bombs were dropped on the southeast coast town by six planes in attack formation. A British Press Ass'n correspondent said they scored a direct hit on the front part of a historic castle and demolished houses in two streets.

There were a number of casualties, some fatal.

The blasts shattered windows, tore craters in roadways and set rescue squads to feverish digging for survivors in wrecked buildings.

10 AXIS SHIPS SUNK

The British admiralty, reporting on activities of recent weeks, said an Italian destroyer, two Italian submarines and seven German U-boats had been sent to the bottom by Britain's own wide-ranging naval forces.

Although hampered by bad weather, the air ministry said British bombers had made night raids on shipping off Dunkirk and in Rotterdam harbor, on barge concentrations at Heusden, an industrial plant near Wesel and railroad and oil storage facilities near Cherbourg.

The admiralty announcement said an Italian destroyer of the Curstone class (965-tonners fitted for minelaying) had been torpedoed and sunk by the British submarine Odisia in the Adriatic Sept. 22.

Dirty weather over London sent German raiders home four hours before dawn today.

Describing weather conditions as "very unfavorable," the British government said the German attacks were concentrated largely on the London area but that bombs also were dropped in other parts of southeast England and at two places in southwest England.

Japan Blast Stirs Capital

strangled in her desires to establish a new order of mutual prosperity in her sphere in East Asia.

"When I charged in a speech on the floor of the United States Senate in 1938 that such was the ambition and purpose of the Japanese military government, I was charged with being a war-monger."

"Foreign Minister Mitsuoka misunderstands the pacifism of this country. It will do anything honorable to keep out of war, but it will not be guilty of the appeasement of Munich."

Fish, terming the International News Service interview a "highly important document," said:

"It is very plain that if we continue our provocative acts we will be in a war with Japan. Not one per cent of the American people want war in the Far East and I do not believe that one per cent of members of the Republican party in Congress would vote for it and only a small percentage of the Democratic members."

Second Victim Dies In Chicago Shooting

DETROIT, Oct. 4 (AP)—Alfred Nadell died today, bringing to two the victims in the shooting which took place Tuesday night in the office of Common Pleas Judge Robert E. Sage. Alfred Nadell's brother, Ralph, was the other fatality. A widespread police search is under way for Judge Sage, accused of the shooting.

Teachers Colleges Warmly Defended

Massachusetts ranks 46th among the States in public support of higher institutions and it would be indefensible to curtail programs of its nine State teachers' colleges further, a special commission was told at the State House today.

Presidents of the nine colleges, of Fitchburg, said that their record of having placements for 78 per cent of 11,500 graduates between 1925-37 "needs no apology."

If private and technical schools could present comparable figures there would be less unemployment, they asserted. Furthermore, they said, net costs for the colleges have decreased 24 per cent in nine years.

The presidents asserted that the State College at Amherst costs more than all of their institutions annually and Norman H. MacDonald, secretary for the Federation of Taxpayers Assns was asked why his organization did not go after that.

MacDonald said the federation's funds were limited, but that they did believe that the teachers colleges had too many buildings, too much plant for the number of teachers required annually.

"We'd like to go after the college at Amherst, too," he said. "There is a lot of dissatisfaction with it, but it must be one thing at a time."

Judge Michael H. Sullivan, former member of the Boston School Committee, warmly defended the teachers colleges and declared that their program should be enlarged instead of curtailed.

Private colleges are educating the youth "away from the government," Judge Sullivan charged, "at least in the East. Even the study of United States history is no longer required."

The teachers' college presidents sharply criticized the taxpayers' federation report to Governor Saltonstall recommending curtailment of their programs. It contained many inaccuracies in per capita costs and wrong conclusions, it was asserted.

The taxpayers' charge that school attendance was diminishing so that fewer teachers would be needed, is also to be contradicted, because of the definite increase in marriages in the past few years, the presidents also argued.

There were 22,817 marriages in the State in 1932 and 38,794 in 1939; there will be even more in 1940, with a consequent increase, instead of decrease, in children of school age, they said.

Further, they declared from 1915 to 1936 mortality for children between the ages of 1 and 9 years has dropped from 24.3 per cent to 6.2, a decrease of 74 per cent. Half of this gain has been registered in the past 10 years.

22 Former Girl Pupils Face Rice at Trial

ever bothered by insomnia, he was quoted as explaining.

The transcript dealt at considerable length with a letter Rice had written to Mrs. Edna L. White, of Central Park West, New York, described as a Christian Science Sunday School teacher.

TELLS OF LETTER

Asked by the district attorney why he was apparently "sorely troubled" by the murder, Rice was quoted as replying:

"Any murder within 40 miles of me makes me creep. I am so nervous I can't even read the war stories in the newspapers."

Hauver, official court stenographer of Bristol County court, read a transcript of testimony taken at a grilling of Rice by Capt. Stokes of the State Police. Rice, Hauver stated, had denied during the questioning that he knew of the murder until July 1, the day after it was committed.

Capt. Stokes confronted him with a letter written to Mrs. White postmarked from Oak Bluffs at 11 a. m. on June 30, a few hours after the murder was discovered. The letter indicated Rice knew the murder had been committed.

REACTIONS TOLD

When Hauver was asked what the reactions of Rice were to this letter, he replied:

"He examined the letter and envelope and the postmark. His face was covered with a flush and perspiration came out on it. Finally he said:

"I don't know, I am guilty—I am innocent. Either I have been mistaken in my dates or the postman is. I can't answer it. It is too much for me!"

At a later questioning by Dist. Atty. Crosley, Hauver quoted Rice as saying:

"Any information you have to connect me with this crime must have come from someone at the school. It must have come from Thomas or Levy."

During this grilling, Rice asked for and obtained permission to send a telegram to Mrs. White in New York. This telegram read: "Investigated by police since 1 p. m. Suspect being framed. Please help."

Tilt of Uniform Cap Traps Suspect

When the man in the British surgeon-commander's uniform put off the New York bus in Scollada sq., today, Patrolman Albert Gildersleeve didn't like the tilt of his cap or the way his jacket was unbuttoned.

After questioning the visitor, who gave the name of James E. Flannigan, 50, of West 57th st., Gildersleeve marched him to Station 3. New York police wanted Mr. Flannigan, they reported, for appropriating the uniform from Dr. W. H. J. King of West 43rd st.

Flannigan, a former New York policeman, said Dr. King was an acquaintance and the uniform was only borrowed.

JAPS WOULD FIGHT U.S. OVER STATUS

fore throwing the entire world into conflagration.

WAR PACT "FOR PEACE"

Japan's pact with Italy and Germany, he made clear, compels this country in black and white to fight in such a contingency. The national word has been given, he said, and the country's national honor has been pledged to see that Japan holds up her end of the bargain.

"Frankly," Matsuoka declared, "Japan, Germany and Italy entered into the pact to prevent the United States from becoming involved in the present European War."

"For we all fear that if the United States comes in, it will develop into a vital and disastrous conflict."

"We wish to avoid this international conflict and the pact is an eloquent expression of Japan's wishes. It is, however, definitely a pact of peace and the American people must understand it as such."

RAPS SCRAP EMBARGO

In this extraordinary interview, the first given to any correspondent since Japan linked her fate with the axis powers, Matsuoka displayed marked impatience with the attitude of the United States and with the new American embargoes "which threaten the peace of the Pacific."

President Roosevelt has declared an embargo on export of scrap iron to Japan, effective Oct. 16—Editor's note.

He then threw down the challenge that the United States "must recognize the new order in the Far East or face responsibility for war in the Pacific and in the entire world."

"I have always considered America my second home land," Matsuoka, who was educated at the Oregon Law College, declared. "I have always known the American people as a good and decent people, so it grieves me to realize that today America is the most unprogressive nation on earth, clinging to old conceptions and attempting to impede those who desire a swift change to the better."

"CANT STRANGLE JAPAN"

"Japan can no longer be strangled in her desires to establish a new order of mutual prosperity in her sphere in East Asia, and has taken a place with the major powers of the world which desire to establish and maintain a new order of mankind."

Dramatically the one-time boy accused the United States of responsibility for the trouble in Europe today. He said:

"The United States and Great Britain, it is clear to me, have forced the axis powers into the use of force in Europe."

"Germany and Italy are not to blame for what they are doing. The United States must once and forever understand that the new order is here, otherwise there is no use in looking forward to a peaceful settlement."

"Naturally, the United States desires talks and discussions for other methods of settlement, even over a period of several years, because the United States can wait. They are in no hurry."

"It is nice for the United States to say that we must settle everything peacefully, but if we wait for America we must perish in the years of waiting."

"So I say to America: 'Now is the time for action, and Japan will not hesitate when its hour arrives.'"

Matsuoka hinted he would broadcast an appeal direct to the American people "at the psychological moment" in an effort to give them a true picture of the current Far Eastern situation.

"Whether or not the European war becomes a general world war is purely in the hands of the United States at this moment," he said.

"Americans must see clearly the spirit of the tripartite pact which is candidly aimed at them. WELCOMES PARLEY"

"We in Japan would welcome frank and rapid diplomatic exchanges with full understanding and broad-mindedness with a view toward peace. But if the United States continues such measures as tightening the embargo she will only further anger the Japanese nation."

"You must admit we have been bearing all this pressure with remarkable patience. I wonder, were the situation reversed, if the American people would stand for it so long. They would already be at war."

Matsuoka closed the interview by expressing a wish for peace and improved Japanese-American relations "from the bottom of our hearts" and with all human sincerity.

THE United States Senate has demonstrated a commendable understanding of the basic dangers besetting the country, in passing a bill requiring the Communist Party, the German-American Bund and other foreign-controlled organizations to disclose their memberships and financing methods.

This bill should have the same alert consideration in the House of Representatives, and without question should be given final enactment and enforcement as speedily as possible.

The Communist Party has been a potent force in the United States principally because it has been permitted to be a SECRET organization.

Under the cloak of secrecy, many people who hold positions of trust, responsibility and public interest in the government or in other important phases of the national life are able to maintain their affiliation with the Communist Party without risking the certain penalty of public displeasure.

If all who pay dues to the Communist Party or contribute financially or otherwise to its subversive activities were assured those facts would be known to the government and to the American people, many and perhaps a majority would forego the affiliation.

Government officials and employees who affiliate with the Communist Party particularly desire secrecy in doing so.

But many other people, including educators, labor leaders, and trusted and influential figures in business and social life, well realize that disclosure of their Communist activities would discredit them in the eyes of the American people and perhaps debar them from public life, and very properly so.

FOR ITS OWN GOOD The United States Government should know the identity of the members of subversive groups and, at the same time, should know also where disruptive organizations like the Communist Party get their money.

Congress should not be too busy with the other real or imaginary problems of government to pay strict and prompt attention to such a duty.

The only reason the American people have been slow in the past to recognize and understand the danger of Communism is that the Communist Party has appeared to be numerically small and unimportant, and the known Communists in every community were insignificant in themselves and small in numbers.

The American people, however, would be amazed to know how large the true membership of the Communist Party really is, and in addition how menacingly and corruptively large is the sector of the American population which contributes to its support.

Our most glaring mistake has been to judge the proportions of the Communist danger by the comparatively small vote the party attracts to its official ballot.

That does not scratch the surface of the peril.

If Congress requires registration of both Communist Party and German Bund members and contributors, the country will get its first real conception of how thoroughly this insidious enterprise has fixed itself upon the nation's life.

BOSTON'S CONFERENCE on distribution, sponsored by the Retail Trade Board and the Chamber of Commerce, has two important purposes.

The sessions beginning Monday will center the nation's favorable attention on us, thus emphasizing our industrial and maritime leadership.

Moreover, the sessions will attract outstanding business men, manufacturers and educators and give delegates an opportunity to consider their individual and collective problems in the spirit of friendliness and co-operation.

In the past 12 years these annual national forums have contributed much to Boston's growth and prosperity.

This year, because of the major role this locality is playing in the national defense program, the conference should be more worthwhile than ever before.

IT'S INSPECTION TIME for all automobiles that use Massachusetts highways.

Regulations require that every owner take his pleasure car or truck to an official inspection station and obtain proof that the vehicle is mechanically safe.

A sounder or more necessary rule cannot be imagined.

With the traffic death toll rising rapidly and threatening to hit a new high, we can ill afford to tolerate automobiles with faulty equipment on our roads.

Every motorist should realize this and prove that he does realize it by displaying a safety sticker on his car windshield at the earliest possible date.

On The Side

AM ASKED will I support a campaign to tax all bachelors of 36 years of age or over for the benefit of unmarried women. I am not in sympathy with this campaign. I don't like the idea of picking on a man because he does not want to get married. It is not the American way. I mean let every citizen conduct his "pursuit of happiness" in his own fashion. If bachelors are taxed, this department will demand, in no uncertain tones, that bachelor girls and married women who work be taxed. And also that all money be taxed.

IN NEW YORK the name of a restaurant is Hamburger Heaven. In Asbury Park, N. J., a shoe-maker calls his place "The House of Lost Soles" . . . A distinguished gentleman who recently returned from Hollywood says: "There seems to be in Hollywood a system of living with two great commandments, Hate Your Neighbor and Love Your Neighbor's Wife" . . . Gentlemen, please note the following statement by a disillusioned wife. "The trouble with today's social set-up," says she, "is that men are spoiled. Women have petted and pampered men until the men have become too precious. Talk about female gold diggers! It's the males who are the gold diggers for everything from the girl friend's change to the wife's salary check. I supported a husband for five years only to have him run off with another woman."

BURTON B. TURKUS, of the Brooklyn district attorney's office, has successfully handled the prosecution of that group of thugs known as "Murder, Inc." He is tall and good looking. I mention this latter in the interests of feminine clients, as Mr. Turkus is a bachelor. When asked if he was of the "confirmed bachelor" type he said: "Absolutely not. I am merely cautious" . . . Jean Muir, actress, was seen at a party with three male escorts. Very good but not near the Broadway Hollywood record which, as stated here before, is six held by Marlene Dietrich . . . Fannie Hurst, the author, is very fond of cats, which is more proof of the fallacy of the contention that

"CAN YOU NAME 12 songs with the word home in the title?" is what an Albany, N. Y., client asks. I don't know, sir, but I can try. There are "Home Sweet Home," "Home Is Where the Heart Is," "I'm Afraid to Go Home in the Dark," "Maggie Murphy's Home," "We Won't Go Home Until Morning," "The Hills of Home," "Heaven Is My Home, I Am but a Stranger Here" and "Won't You Come Home, Billy Bailey?" That's only eight you say. Well, that's not so bad thinking them up right off the cuff, is it?

MY DAY

WEDNESDAY proved to be a delightful day for driving. Though it clouded up once or twice, the sky was blue and the sun was not so bright as to tire my eyes. We drove back on the North side of the Cape and went to Mattapoisett to see Mrs. Charles Hamlin.

It was a coincidence that, as I hesitated, wondering which lane led down to her house, two kindly looking people stood on the corner. The lady came forward and said she would like to shake hands with me, since she was from Boston and with her husband was ardently supporting the President.

When I told Mrs. Hamlin of the incident, remarking that I imagined there were rather few people I would find with the same feeling thereabouts, she said: "They are almost the only summer people who feel that way."

WE ONLY HAD a short time with Mrs. Hamlin, but she showed us the havoc the storm had wrought two years ago and described so vividly the mountainous waves, that I could really imagine what it had been like.

On the table in her living room were a quantity of gourds and different varieties of little tomatoes and beautiful begonias, all of which she had been selling at a roadside stand for the benefit of the children's dental fund in the village. These were the leftovers, so I walked away with two boxes and decided this was my day for gifts.

When I left the hotel in Provincetown Wednesday morning, the mail came dashing up with a jar of beach plum jelly. This jelly, I think, is very delicious and I was delighted to take it home to use on very special occasions and to share only with my friends of discriminating taste.

Driving through Boston has always seemed to me a little confusing, but we went through Wednesday with great ease because of the direction of a kindly garage man, plus a map of the city. We reached Nahant at 4:15 and a little later we had tea with my youngest grandson holding court on the sofa. He behaved very well and seemed to know at once that we were old friends. The only one whose nose is a little out of joint is Percy, the dachshund, who for four years held the center of the stage and now is obliged to share it.

John could not reach home until late, for they had a sale at his branch store. He certainly enjoys his business and, after all, that is the most important element in all work we undertake.

Yesterday morning we left after the baby had his bath and we headed for Hyde Park over the Mohawk Trail.

FILMS ARE BETTER, FRISCO SAYS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Joe Frisco, the stuttering comic, at last has left Hollywood after a visit which lasted more than five years. On the eve of his departure William K. Howard, the director, asked him: "Joe, has Hollywood changed any since you first came here?" "Well, the p-pictures are getting b-b-better and better," replied Frisco, "their b-b-budgets are getting h-h-higher and higher—and Eirol Flynn g-g-gets braver and braver."

ENTERPRISE: Sam Levene, who last appeared on Broadway in "Margin for Error," always has had a desire to direct plays. Last Summer he found a play which he thought had possibilities—a play called "Big Story." He brought it to Gilbert Miller, the producer, and asked for an opportunity to direct it. "I'm in no state now to work over scripts," said Miller. "How about your working on it, have one performance, with scenery and all?" Then we would decide whether or not to produce it in N. Y., Levene agreed. Actors were hired, rehearsals were held, scenery was built, and the total cost was $8000, which Miller paid. "Big Story" opened at the Maplewood Theater in Jersey, Monday night. Miller hasn't yet decided to bring it to N. Y.

CHATTER: Douglas Dillon—of Dillon, Read & Co.—and August Belmont have joined the staff of James Forrestal at the National Defense Council. . . . Ducky Medwick, a chronic hold-out, has signed his Dodge contract for next season. . . . Al Smith's pro-Wilkie speeches will be delivered in N. Y., Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Chicago. . . . Ben Marden flew to Miami Tuesday night to bid for the Hollywood Country Club there. Marden's record-breaking show at the Riviera, with Richman, Tucker and Joe E. Lewis, will play Loew's State.

TALENT: Tuesday morning Joe E. Lewis accompanied Don Ameche in a tour of the late-spots. They went to Jimmy Kelly's in the village, and sat at a table until all the guests had left and the staff had gone home. . . . "I envy you fellows," said Ameche, "you, who can step out on a stage, in front of people, and sing and dance for them. I'd be scared to face 'em." . . . "There's really nothing to it," Lewis assured, "try it. Go ahead and try it." . . . And so, with a night club comic and a lone waiter as his sole audience, the star who has entertained millions via his screen performances, sang, danced and told jokes—in a nervous but thorough debut at a Manhattan cafe.

SURPRISE: Henri-Haye, the new French Ambassador, told this story at Monte Carlo Tuesday night: He was Mayor of Versailles at the time the Normandies made its maiden voyage to New York. The mayors of all those French cities whose names were the same as cities in America sent to these American cities a token of kinship. . . . The Mayor of Versailles, France, therefore dispatched to the Mayor of Versailles, Kentucky, a silver urn containing some earth from an American cemetery in France's Versailles. His message declared that this was a symbol—that the free earth of France and the free earth of America shall remain blended forevermore. . . . Henri-Haye then discovered that there was another Versailles, in Idaho. To that mayor he sent a message of greeting, explaining that a similar urn would follow—and not to be surprised when it comes. . . . "Our surprise," acknowledged the Mayor of Idaho's Versailles, "is that you have a city in France also named Versailles."

MESSAGE: A girl, aged 12, visited the roof of the Empire State Building, to view the illuminated city spread below her in the night. There she paid an additional fee for a voice-recording. Into the recording microphone she spoke the lines which began: "Keep those lights burning, America. They're the only lights left in the world." Those lines are from the final speech in Alfred Hitchcock's "Foreign Correspondent." The girl was Pat Hitchcock—who then sent the recording to her father in Hollywood.

DON AMECHE

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Bill "Bohangles" Robinson, the highest priced colored entertainer outside the concert realm, has just been engaged for a two-week stand at the Southland. . . . The former actor-manager Marty Forkins, gave Manager Al Tolan of the Southland his assurance that Bill would be on deck Monday. . . . Shirley Temple's "Uncle Bill" scored a tremendous hit at the "Cavalcade of Stars" show at the Garden while the legionnaires were in town. . . . Ada Brown, one of the "names" in Harlem, will sing on the same bill.

BOSTON'S VERDICT OF "thumbs up" on Ed Wynn's lavish musical, "Boys and Girls Together," has been confirmed by New York. . . . The Gotham critics were unanimous in praising Mr. Wynn and his accomplices in reviews that the Broadway slang catalogues as "rave notices." . . . Most of the critics commented on the reverent absence of snout, with the veteran Burns Mantle writing: "The revue is about the best we've had in years. . . . There isn't an offensive line, an off-color situation."

THE CRITICS PRAISED JANE PICKENS highly, and a columnist pointed out that never before has a member of a former sister-act stepped out to go it alone and managed to raise the rating enjoyed by the original act. . . . This is quite true. . . . But signs that lightning will strike again, perhaps in the same year, are given by young June Preisser's efforts in Hollywood without her sister, Cherry, (who married Harry Hopkins' son and is living in Massachusetts).

LOVELY LITTLE JUNE is appearing in support of Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in "Strike Up the Band." . . . She doesn't get a chance to do much more than dance, but private advices from the West Coast tell us that June is slated for major assignments at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer where, perhaps because the studio lost Deanna Durbin to Universal, the agent at present is acutely on youth.

TWO YOUNGSTERS bearing the unimpaired stage-name of Elaine and Barry—which happen to be their own names—are performing so impressively at the Coward Grove that it's a pleasure to recommend them to any stage or movie producers (for their scouts) who may be reading. . . . The young man has personality and looks. . . . The girl is sweet and pretty. . . . And how they can dance!

THEIR PERFORMANCE IS HURT by an unoriginal routine which shows the male dancer applying shaving soap to his face, after registering disgust at the womanly habit of applying makeup in the middle of a dance. . . . (This is the third time a dance team has gone through this rigamarole this season in a Boston cafe). . . . But these kids are sure-fire. . . . They need only to dance. . . . Later, we hope, they'll get a chance to act.

WHICH REMINDS US that the country is threatened again by the musicians—the same fellows who were talking baby-talk (remember "Three Little Fishies") . . . Oh, there was more than that! . . . Something about an "little little foxie," as we remember it. . . . As Mr. Detritto's men survived public indignation with at least their lives, they are now at it again. . . . The McFarland Twins, who sing an introduction about themselves over the radio, were having themselves a time over a thing called "Shush, Baby's Asleep," as we tuned off. . . . In this one, the musicians feign (1) a sneeze, (2) a baby whining, (3) baby talk again. . . . Ouch!

JUNE PREISSER SLATED FOR MAJOR ROLES
M-G-M to Boost Former Member of Sister Team

BOBBY READICK, 14-year-old star in "George Washington Slept Here," currently at Plymouth Theater, has more than one reason for being interested in his Hub engagement. . . . Bobby's grandma and grandpa, May and George Randall, were famous Bostonian team during the vaudeville era. . . . Besides his legitimate stage work, young Readick has built a reputation for himself in radio circles having appeared on many star-studded coast-to-coast broadcasts. . . . During the past summer the youthful actor appeared with the Oron Welles Mercury Theater Group in Gloucester.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE VISITS STUDIO

By Louella O. Parsons

Shirley Temple

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4.—I can't bring myself to believe that Shirley Temple's visit to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio the other day was just an idle stroll around the lot. Of course, Shirley has been to several studios just making the rounds and watching other stars work. But I happen to know M-G-M has been talking business with the Oswalt boys, who represent the golden Temple child, about a contract. The only stipulation Mrs. Temple makes—and very wisely, I think—is that Shirley will never make more than two pictures a year—preferably one.

It's just a stray thought and nobody even whispered it to me but oh, what a hit Shirley and Mickey Rooney would be teamed in a musical! Right now Shirley is attending the Westlake School for Girls and is enjoying her studies. But once a trouper always a trouper and I'll never believe she doesn't miss her movie work. In the meantime she's scheduled for a Lux radio appearance in "The Littlest Rebel," one of her most successful movies.

SINCE DEAN JAGGER and I made that trip to New York together (don't get excited—it was for the Kate Smith broadcast) I've been very interested in his career. He is such a definite type and made such a vivid impression. "Madam Young" I felt that it might be difficult for 20th Century-Fox to cast him. But his success has not gone unnoticed. Photographs for next day's "Herald" Zamek took over and he has brought "Madam Young" to the popular test with Mr. Stewart Edward White for the part. As the dumb man hero Dean will once again conquer the great outdoors in typical he-man style, P. N. to Darryl! He looked mighty nifty in a dinner jacket at the Stork Club, too.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Olympie Bradna, the young French girl who was widely advertised as the "unlikeable," has parted company with Paramount. She has gone to a sanatorium in Santa Barbara to lose weight, but it wasn't poundage that caused her trouble with her Alma Mater. Her father, according to friends of the family, says the trouble was over their refusal to change Olympie's name to something less complicated. Doesn't seem plausible that Para would drop her for such a reason after she's made pictures on the lot for several years—but stranger things have happened in Hollywood studios.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The girl Herbie Kaye married is Betty Rinehart from Dallas. She owns several oil wells. Herbie met her after his divorce from Dorothy Lamour when his band was playing in Texas; the Reginald Gardner-Mary Parker romance is so warm; Wayne Morris' current heart throb is Pat Stewart and he seems to have gotten Bobbie's Schnaps out of his system; Maria Jontez, Franchot Tone's honey for a while, at the Brown Derby with Ivan Lelchoff.

NAN GREY'S very youthful mother will shortly become the bride of Leon Lord, local stage producer; Wesley Ruggles and his bride, Mabel Rogers, met Arline Judge at Eddie Hillman's party honoring the Irving Nethers. Arline thanked Mabel for being so kind to little Wes and what might have been a strained situation was saved; Andre Charlet, who gave Mrs. Hillman (Lady June Inverlyde) her first chance on the stage, talked about how much he enjoyed putting on the revue here with Hollywood talent.

HAD TEA with Gracie Allen and George Burns and they had to rush home to rehearse their lines for the "Charlot Revue." Gracie and I are playing a pin-rummy tournament all by ourselves; talk in Hollywood is that Zorina and her bridegroom, George Balanchine, are not seeing eye to eye.

FRED BERTSONS (he is head of the Fox office here) leave Wednesday by boat for New York. The Bob Hope have finally found their little boy, named him Tony. He is a little older than the adopted daughter; Forrest Tucker and his bride, Sandra Jolley, La Congaingo. She is giving up her job at Earl Carroll's; that was Julie Warren with Walter Brooks, III, at Emerald Lodge.

ONLY 100,000 DRAFTEES IN SERVICE BY JAN. 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Nov. 14 was the earliest date now contemplated for induction into the army of men drafted under the new compulsory military service law.

Indications were that the number called then would be comparatively small and some officials estimated that possibly fewer than 100,000 draftees would be in the service by Jan. 1, compared with earlier estimates of 400,000.

Spokesmen for the selective service committee asserted their machinery would be in readiness to begin furnishing men to the army by Nov. 14 but it was pointed out that because of the burdens imposed on the army by mobilization of the national guard and by the continued expansion of the regular army through voluntary enlistments, it would not have the facilities for more than 100,000 trainees before the first of the year.

By the terms of the Conscription Act the number of trainees inducted is limited by the availability of "adequate" housing and medical facilities.

Discussing the housing problem today, the war department estimated that each of the tent camps now being constructed would include more than 4,500 tents and over 300 buildings.

These will house National Guard units which are to be expanded to full strength by the induction of conscription trainees.

The wooden cantonments to be used by regular army and National Guard divisions training in the more severe climates will be composed of 316 barracks and several score other buildings.

The cantonment camps are expected to cost $3,000,000 each, compared with $5,000,000 for the tent camps.

Work already is in progress or is "being initiated," the War Department reported, on 10 tent camps for National Guard divisions; seven cantonments for the regular army and six for the guard divisions; one cantonment and four tent camps for anti-aircraft training centers, and on 13 receipt reception depots to cost $275,000 each.

Woman Killed By 1-Track Train

Apparently unaware of the new single track train operation on the Old Colony railroad, an aged woman was struck and killed by a Boston-bound train today as she walked the tracks south of Weymouth Landing station.

Under the former two-track system, the woman would have been on the track used by south-bound trains only. Weymouth police identified the victim as Elizabeth K. Roy of Camp Ave., Idlewell, but said they could not immediately locate relatives.

The body was removed to City's undertaking parlor, Washington st., Weymouth, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Robert R. Ryan.

Two women were injured on the first day of the single track operation of the road when their clothes in the path of a "Waver" train.

SISTER SEARS, large debut ball tonight is a double header . . . for it marks not only Sister's formal bow to society, but also the housewarming of the lavish new wing recently added to the Sears summer estate in Hamilton . . .

The new wing contains a large ballroom where Sister and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Sears, are receiving, and to accommodate the unusually large number of guests a flower banked marquee has been erected on the adjoining terrace . . . Sister's debut gown of tulle has a rainbow skirt of blending colors, and a fitted brocade bodice . . .

Her brother, Francis P. Sears, Jr., heads the usher staff together with George Von L. Meyer, Jr., Tom Stevenson and Richard Sears, Jr., a cousin . . . Their assistants are Richard Blaine, Herbert and Richard Tuckerman, John Gay, Fulton Cutting, Antonio Villa, William Woodward, George Thompson, Charles Leonard, Gordon McGrath, Ben Gardiner, Robert S. Potter, Jr., Ben Bradley, Gerald Redmond, Parkman Denny, Jr., and Gilbert Knowles . . .

Brisbane and Cynthia Munn of New York, are among the guests at the ushers dinner, together with Constance Bradley, Margaret and Jenny McKean, Helen Knowles, Grace Cutting, Nancy Denny, Ann Norris, Leslie Morgan, Ruth W. Robb and Jean Roberts who noded Sister out of the race for prettiest girl on the North Shore this past summer . . .

Honored at Tea

MARY FAVORITE has a lot of handshaking in store for her during the next couple of months, for this popular debutante will be the guest of honor at a series of four parties here and in New York . . .

She receives her baptism of fire this afternoon at a tea being given for her at the Women's Republican Club by Mrs. Walter Sutter of Brookline . . . The slim blonde debutante is receiving in a black velvet frock with a bonnet to match and a corsage of white orchids . . . Her mother, Mrs. Calvin Favorite of Brookline, has chosen a sage green wool costume suit trimmed with mink and a mink trimmed hat, and Mrs. Sutter's ensemble is also of green . . .

The pourers include Mary's intimate friends, Mary O'Day, Ann

SISTER SEARS, who makes bow in family's new ballroom tonight.

Claik, Jean Roberts and Dorothy Chase . . . On Nov. 15, Mrs. Favorite will present her daughter at a luncheon at the Ritz, and on Dec. 18 Mary will make her bow to Gotham society at a dinner dance given by her aunt, Mrs. Albert Brewer Baker of Pelham, N. Y., who came to Boston attend today's party . . . Mrs. George Lyden Favorite of Philadelphia will also entertain for her popular niece.

Tea Dance

Debs Among Guests

This annual affair is staged in the afternoon as a preview of the formal opening of the Sheraton room this evening. Debutantes' escorts will include student government and fraternity leaders of Greater Boston colleges.

IN KEEPING with the old Boston tradition Mr. and Mrs. Sears have invited many of their friends as well as Sister's to meet their budding daughter . . . Also in keeping with Boston tradition, Mrs. Sears put her foot down last spring on allowing Sister to have any glamour girl publicity . . . Married Life Best Survey Discloses EAGLE ROCK, Cal., Oct. 4 (AP)—Married people have fewer problems than unmarried and are more successful in avoiding prison, insane asylums and the undertaker, Dr. Paul Popenoe, general director of the Institute of Family Relations, declared today.

"The extraordinarily high rate of insanity, suicide and imprisonment, and the short span of life, of the single, divorced and widowed as compared with married persons, is the best possible evidence that those outside of marriage do not lack serious problems," he said in an address here.

DIAMOND JIM Says:

Thousands are converting their wealth into diamonds—the world's most stable investment. Diamonds on fingers are "cash on hand." Put your diamonds at WASHINGTON JEWELRY Co.—New England's Great Diamond House.

pared for delivery at a conference of the institute.

"Single men and women both showed a greater falling off of interests than did the married," he added. "Moreover, the middle aged married persons expressed an eager desire for more activities still, for which they lacked time."

Dr. Popenoe cited "the fact that the divorce rate of college graduate women is four times as high as that of college graduate men" as indicating that "the present education of women, largely dominated by unmarried women, is a failure in too many instances."

"Home and school have been too widely separated," he declared. "More married teachers (men and women), more parent participation in school activities and more school recognition of home activities will help to bridge the chasm."

On Visit to Boy Friend's Home

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN,
I am 13 years old and I have been invited by a boy friend's mother to spend a week-end with them. I am wondering if it would be proper for me to accept this invitation. Is it? This boy has visited in our home once.

Also I intend to invite this boy to a prom in our school next spring. Should I invite him to stay at our home or not?
I. M.

Since this boy's mother has directly invited you to visit them, it is proper for you to accept her invitation, provided that your mother and father approve of your going. And I judge that they will, since they have already had the boy as a guest in your home.

Also, since he has been a guest in your home, I judge too that your mother and father would approve of inviting him to be a guest there when he comes to the home. However, this invitation too should come directly from your mother.

Apple Butter Valuable Cooking Aid

By MARTHA LEE

There will be plenty of apples around this fall and we are glad because there are so many ways that this peerless native fruit can be prepared. For one thing, we like to see crocks and jars of home-made apple butter on the pantry shelves. And it can be the old fashioned kind, dark and spicy, good enough to be the filling of a cake or to blend with beaten egg whites for an apple whip.

If an almost jelly consistency is desired, cook it down with the seeds and cores as well as the apple skins. What is better with cold meat in mid-winter than such incomparable apple butter?

APPLE BUTTER

4 lemons
 6 cups sugar
 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
 4 qts. quartered apples
 1/2 tsp. ground cloves
 1/2 tsp. ground allspice

Slice the lemons and cover with water. Let stand overnight. In the morning place in a kettle with the apples which have been washed and quartered but not peeled or cored. Cook one hour. Strain through colander, add sugar and simmer 1 1/2 hours longer, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add spices, put in clean jars and seal.

Apples for dessert are, of course, wonderful baked, but have you ever made an apple soufflé? It's very simple.

SPICY APPLE SOUFFLE

1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 2 cups milk
 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
 3 egg whites
 1-8 tsp. nutmeg
 2 tbsp. butter
 1 1/2 tbsp. lemon juice
 1 cup grated raw apple
 8 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon colored

Combine tapioca, sugar, salt and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 3 to 5 minutes) and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter, spices, lemon juice and apple. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add yolks and mix well. Fold into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until soufflé is firm. Serve hot with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

We like apples this time of year, fried, for breakfast with ham or sausage or scrapple. (You can buy it canned now, you know.) For fried apples, cut washed, but not peeled or cored, red apples in thick slices, at least 1/2 inch thick, dip in flour and fry lightly on each side, sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon and cover to cook until tender.

APPLE SAUCE

Apples finely chopped, are wonderful added to a real American pancake mixture and served with butter, cinnamon and sugar—or for dessert, with nutmeg hard sauce. This concept is just hard sauce with a liberal lacing of nutmeg.

It's the universal favorite—and it fits into any meal.

For breakfast—how better to start the day than with hot buttered biscuits, chilled "green" apple sauce, and coffee?

For lunch and dinner—you'll always be right when you serve apple sauce with meat. It is a perfect taste combination, and what's more, modern nutritional science confirms the old tradition "always serve apple sauce with meats." The apples are a natural aid to the rapid digestion of high-protein foods.

For dessert—fill flaky pie-crust shells with apple sauce, top with whipped cream.

And there's nothing better than a dish of apple sauce from the refrigerator, with crisp round crackers or buttered bread, for that 'tween meal or bedtime snack.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

CELEBRATING Newspaper Week, Youngsters selling down street, "Pop! Pop!"

As you've heard your pennies in the tiny hand, let me ever stop to think what life in the gutter side of that paper page... the mystery and a fortune... beauty, horror and tragedy? Even stop to realize that you were getting box seats to the greatest show on earth, the amazing drama of LIFE. AS IS—as only the newshawks can see it?

I've been in that show for more than 20 years. Years so crammed with world-wide experience that my own private life has been lost in the shuffle.

That dawn I held a waiting mother in my arms, felt her go limp, saw the thin, wrinkled eyelids flutter with the ebbing tide, and purple lips sag sideways. A faded, illiterate woman, worn to the breaking point by service to three fatherless boys. Hungry, homeless boys, for the most part, who'd become, inevitably, human wolves, snatching at the help with which a "civilized" society should have provided them.

Snatching once too often, leaving a man lying dead after the wolf pack had fed. That dawn two of them were to die, by the noose. And while they died, I held their mother in my arms, her broken heart on mine. My own boy was only one month dead.

THAT TIME the sergeant called me from the city jail. For once I'd stopped my work, gone out to play.

Blue-sprinkled chiffon and ermine wrap, with rhinestones sparkling in my hair, that then was blonde. So I went, laughing. But, in seconds, that gay laugh was stiff with horror, smeared with tears.

For, in a cell, a screaming young, sleek knave and I were to do it my knees... crying no hint meant to do it... hadn't meant. His hands cuffed and his blue chiffon to shreds.

Across the hall, a man in a hand shot, lay dead. A brave and cultured gentleman, a real patriot, this, his only sin, for years. Suffering to see childless child to give and write in the morning with the whiplash of his fist. And now they'd bury him beneath a veil of flower. And cry this child bound gray evil stones.

AND THOSE long months I once spent with the Bonus Army, watching to men who'd saved America be starved and shamed by those whom they'd saved. Laying in paper huts, feeling on cabbage beds and ends. Refused help by the government they'd saved. Refused aid by those who could have helped.

With only one man brave enough to stand in their defence and give them medicine and food and faith. The man for whom I've proudly worked for nearly all these 20 years. My Boss—"Bill" Hearst! God bless his kindly heart for the part he took in that black, shameless hour.

"POI-PA! Poi-PA!" You drop your pennies, buy the newspaper. I wonder if you know you're buying LIFE! A view of life so wide and colorful it holds the answer to your heart's desire and opens your horizon till you see—THE STARS!

You Can Be Beautiful

'Match Pack' in Patriotic Colors for Your Purse

By ARLINE GOULD

NO ONE'S been able to resist the appeal of the "red, white and blue" . . . the tricolor's patriotic note waves in everything, from lapel pins to new sweaters with white and red stripes around the shoulders of a blue bodice.

But that won't be the only appealing feature of a smart "match pack" striped in the tricolor, which supplies you with a handy carrier for matching lipstick and rouge. It is one of those "gift specials." And it is also insurance against mismatching your cheek and lip rouge.

It's another "while they last" item. Fifty-five cents is the regular price of the grand French day rouge which is matched up to a half-size lipstick, and the whole thing, with the cute match pack container is 55 cents.

You'd do well to fix up your evening requirements as well as daytime accents during this sale. It's not unlikely that you have a bonzy green as well as some grape blues in your current wardrobe . . . and you should know, if you don't, that it's impossible to wear the same lipstick with both these colors.

If you'd like to learn all about this cute "match pack" in red, white and blue, grand for purse use, containing matching half-size lipstick and rouge, for 55 cents, phone Arline Gould, L.H. 6-686, 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TWO THINGS are perfect with your new boyish tweed suit . . . a well-tailored shirt of silk or wool, or a sweater . . . a blouse with fol-de-rol of any kind just isn't done. The sweater can be individual as long as it stays simple . . . and this one fills the bill. It is a slip-on, knitted in a fine pebble stitch. The trick little tab collar is the only front detail, except for the pouch pocket. A zipper closes the sweater at the back. Symphony Opens Friday

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will open its 60th season in Symphony Hall next Friday afternoon under the conductors of Serge Koussevitzky, who will then begin his 17th consecutive year at the head of the orchestra.

Dr. Koussevitzky will open the program with "A London Symphony," by Ralph Vaughan Williams. This symphony is suggestive of its subject by the introduction of such sounds familiar to Londoners as the chiming of Big Ben and certain street cries.

The symphony, which has contributed more than any other work to the fame of its composer, has been performed here several times, but not until now under the direction of Koussevitzky.

The concert will be repeated on Saturday evening, Oct. 12. The shorter series of six Monday evening and six Tuesday afternoon concerts will begin on Oct. 28 and 29.

Special Midnight Show at Howard

"Starlets Burlesquers of 1940," on the bill at the Old Howard midnight show tonight, starting at 11:30, presents Diane Rowland, Eve Arden, Mike Sacks, Dot Darling, Diane Johnson, Hal Weber, Frank Mazzone and Abbott Company, Jean Chadwick, Paddy Cliff, Alice Kennedy, Herbie Harris, Gloria, and Jean Barnes, together with a chorus of 30 lively girls.

Bowdoin to Show 'Gold Rush Maisie'

Coming to the Bowdoin for a four-day run starting tomorrow, is Ann Southern's "Gold Rush Maisie." Supporting cast includes Virginia Welder, Lee Bowman and Slim Sumnerville. Companion feature will be "South of Pago Pago" with Jon Hall, Frances Farmer, and Victor McLaglen.

TALENTED Peggy French (top) departs with the rest of the "George Washington Slept Here" company after tomorrow night's performance at the Plymouth.

NEXT Monday night "Panama Hattie," the B. G. DeSylva musical comedy starring Ethel Merman, will open at the Shubert. Nadine Gae (bottom), no stranger to Boston, is one of the musical's dancing principals.

Al Trahan Makes Comedy King on RKO Boston Stage

Al Trahan, who can get tougher and tougher on the ivories than anyone who ever faced a keyboard, starts a laugh riot at the Keith-Roston, where he tops a new variety bill that is one big barrage of fun and merriment.

For Trahan's routine as the "American Radeleghski" is a nutty bit of footlight foolery as you and you and a king ever looked at. He can play the piano, and like a dream, too. But not for long. For with attractive Jerri Jones taking as much punishment as the furniture, it's horse-play and hilarity that win out over their instrumental and vocal proficiency.

Another top-notch act on the new bill gives lovely-to-look-at Lorraine and her partner Regan, the spot light in some highly original comedy eccentricities, with the accent on dancing of all sorts, from ball room to burlesque and back again. Herman Timberg and Pat Roney, both "juniors" who have a lot to live up to, proceed to keep up the family reputation for more clever lous and patter.

To round out the bill Nellie Arnaut and her two brothers have a time for themselves with three fiddles, topping off their act with their clever whistling bid to Maudie and the Six Amaleks presenting some really sensational tumbling.

"Up In The Air," is one of the new first-run screen features at the Boston, with Frankie Darro as a page boy and Mantle Moreland as a putter in a big radiation. There are murders and mysteries all over the studio. The other picture is "Three Men From Texas," with Hopalong Cassidy and Lucky Bunching law and laughter to California.

Returning from a summer of photography and film making, Fr. Hubbard has brought back with him a collection of his top films. The first of these, "Fr. Hubbard's," is being shown at the South Station Theater as the feature of the new bill starting today. "Fr. Hubbard," an exposure of the drug merchandise racket; a Walt Disney cartoon and "Movie Dog Stars" are other headlines.

McKechnie Almost Yanked Walters

DETROIT, Oct. 4—Judge Landis, the old man with the coziest job in the world, was giving his annual baseball act for the transient press, in the Pullman appropriately named, "Whitelock." The Old Judge sat behind a folding table littered with long stemmed bottles with a bit of baby-ribbon at their throats and assorted splits of ginger-ale and fizz-water. It was the anniversary of his 20th year as baseball's district attorney and he said, in his brassy rumble that God has been good. Peace reigned, he said, over the once turbulent realm where chisellers, highbinders and grifters had gradually been deloused. Prosperity had blessed baseball, made annual millions of hearts happy and diverted the minds of Americans from the catastrophe of World War. So said the Old Judge, punctuating his remarks by jutting out his under lip and speaking through his teeth.

Jove, nodding from Mt. Olympus, might have looked thus upon his ministration over mortal affairs and found his work good.

Nowadays, we of the press don't see this white-plumed, baggy-panted and hammy-rigged legend as much as we used to—briefly in the Southern training camps where he winters with all expenses paid, enjoys the kiss of the sun and nudges a golf ball around in a crotchety, rheumatic swing. Or he may appear, hustling through some World Series hotel dressed in the externals of an Uncle Tom actor, his property stick in land, wearing a common people's hat and a dowdy mountain preacher's coat.

Indeed he hasn't much to do for his $50,000 any more, but he does it with gusto and contrives to make history from trivialities. Thus he presides over the fussy details of this World Series for a few days, aquats in a front box with an imperial pose, and leaves town with the high hearted conscience of a man who has performed prodigies of brain labor and goes virtuously to 12 months of recuperative loafing.

"Cuh-hur-ee-us game," he growled to the jury of newsmen and a court of lesser notables which included Ford Frick and Will Harridge, the rival league presidents. Curious nation, he added. Here are we, engrossed from coast to coast in a contest between two ball firms for a temporary title. And there are they, dropping lethal eggs on each other from lethal buzzards which range the skies, slaughtering untold thousands for international greed, spreading famine and disaster. "Wheeech," he intoned, "is the best-up way?," stabbing imaginary push buttons with his bony finger. Nobody answered under his amber-eyed glare.

In this pacific, unsensational series thus far, the Judge's office has been simple. The two thus far have been perfunctory games. The umpires are just beneficent traffic cops. The contending heroes are just artisans working at their craft. No squabbles, no blasphemies, no hysteria, no picturesque action. So some press malcontent, craving to dip his editorial pen in the ink of sensation observed that it was "pretty boring."

"Borring," cackled the Judge, fixing the heretic with a gimlet

BRIGGS STADIUM, DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4 Looking like a cat who had swallowed a goldfish and intended to eat a canary, Bill McKechnie sat in his cubicle this afternoon just before the third contest of this World Series and said that Ernie Lombardi would catch for the Reds.

The ailing backstop, whose aching ankle has healed nearer to the point of comfort, had volunteered, said Bill, on the assumption that he could spend the rest of the winter curing his twisted stem.

The pitching designate for the Reds, said Wise Willie, would be Jim Turner, the old Bee alumnus, for whom Bob Quinn received Les Scarsella and a bundle. It was quite a step up to glory for old James, who was tagged so recently for wastepipe.

On the other side of the field was equally old Tommy Bridges, the wiry ex-juvenile, who was starting for Detroit. Other than these, the lineup were in statu quo, so to speak, as they had been since Wednesday.

Bridges Stadium has been altered since the memorable 1934 series under Black Miguel Cochran. Now it is enclosed on four sides with a double deck stand, roofed over except in the center field storage section, a compact, folksy looking plant. Yonder stands the right field heights, 110 feet to the extreme tip, where Ted Williams of the Sox busted two titanic home runs in 1939, never done before or since. Capacity here is 56,000.

SCREWBALLS ACTIVE

It was a misty day under a dull sun with a chill breeze coming in from Lake Michigan and, on the horizon, a bank of thunderheads suggesting late rain.

The usual quorum of screwballs were on the scene—a man in white with a crimson parasol who pretended to walk the baselines in lieu of a tightrope, and a piqued lady fan who kept screeching wild animal sounds from her spot on the second tier, and "One-Eye" Connolly, the veteran gatecrasher, and Patsy O'Toole, an imitation Irishman with no Celtic blood whatever, who bawled jauciously from behind the Tiger dugout.

But by and large the citizens of Detroit acted more sanely and, perhaps, a little more blase today than in their previous series games. World Series—three of them in six years—may have jaded their leaning toward epilepsy.

Kronis Enters Arena Fights

Steve Kronis of the South End, state amateur featherweight champion, has entered the second Golden Gloves elimination boxing tournament, to be staged next Monday night at the Arena by the Irish-American A. A.

Kronis was one of the outstanding performers of the last indoor season, and fans are rooting for him to qualify next week, so that he will tangle later on with Al Solara of the North End, winner of the first elimination tournament last Monday.

Entered in the same class with Kronis is Leo Graham of Lowell, while Jimmy Kelley, a hard-hitting lightweight from Lowell, and John Nazzaro, Revere 175-pounder, are top-notchers who will compete next Monday.

Hatlo IMPROVED HARVARD OPENS WITH JEFFS

A Harvard team, considered to be 50 per cent better than the team of last year, will open their season tomorrow against Amherst and should not encounter serious opposition.

Both teams hold light workouts late this afternoon at the Stadium and then retire to a secluded spot for the night. A great deal of interest is being centered on the opening clash, because it will give a line on just what kind of opposition the Crimson will be able to muster for the Michigan team a week from tomorrow.

TO USE SPRYER SPARINGLY

Harvard is a mystery team this year. No one can predict their chances for this year, except that they will be better than last year. There will be several new members of the starting team, Charley Spryer, Harvard's best back, has been troubled with all kinds of ailments and will probably see limited service.

Don McNeil, frosh star last year, will fill Spryer's shoes and be given a chance to prove his mettle as a passer and leading ball-carrier. Burgie Ayres, regular center last year, is on the shelf with a leg injury and will give way to "Lone Star" Diez. Another newcomer to the starting Crimson team will be Don Forte at right end, an excellent pass catcher.

BLOOD BEST OF LORD JEFFS

The Lord Jeffs will present a fairly strong first team which should be able to hold off the Crimson for the first half. Outstanding on the Jeffs is Bob Blood. Wes Fesler, Harvard coach and scout, says that Blood would be a welcome addition to any team in the country. His weakness is that he can only run to the left and is not much of a passer. He will only be used as a spot runner. The Purple and White have an outstanding pass receiver in Left End Johnson. The rest of the line is not very strong. The tackles are the weakest part of the forward wall and will be in for a day of mouse trapping.

B. U. Short On Reserves For Vikings

Badly hampered by the news that three regulars are out for the season, Coach Pat Hanley will be hard pressed for reserve strength as his Boston University swings through a light workout this afternoon in preparation for their coming clash with Upsala at Weston tomorrow.

Having lost Joe Lanata, first string end for the year with a broken leg, Old Man Injured reared right up this week and took two more regulars, Gus Sullivan, brilliant halfback had his collarbone broken in a scrimmage and yesterday it was learned that Ed Rooney, big 220-pound tackle is also through.

ROONEY ON CRUTCHES
Rooney wrecked his knee in the first scrimmage of the year and was on crutches for two weeks. About 10 days ago he started to improve rapidly and dressed for the Norwich game but Coach Pat Hanley refused to take any chances and did not use Ed.

Wednesday night while working out in a dummy scrimmage, Rooney tried to turn quickly and fake a block all by himself. Down he went and he had to be helped from the field. From reports yesterday, the cartilage is torn and Ed will probably have to undergo an operation.

The loss of Sullivan and Rooney has forced Coach Hanley to make two last-minute shifts.

Frankie Provinzano who has been running at left halfback was moved over to right to alternate with Al Clark, the job Gus Sullivan had.

With Rooney out, the tackle squad is so badly depleted that Bob Brown, a veteran end was converted into a tackle yesterday.

Huskies to Start 8 Sophomores

Northeastern will start eight sophomores against American International College tomorrow at Huntington Field in an effort to break the jinx that has been trailing the Huskies for the last year and a half. The wholesale shake-up is the greatest in the Dunn regime.

Captain Dean Williams at tackle, Charlie Abend at guard, and Ronnie Tubbs in the bucking back spot, are the only 1939 squad men who have retained their places. All the rest of the operating team will be brand new and two of them will be starting a game at Northeastern for the first time.

This week's new comers are Ed Jensen, 240 pound tackle from Dorchester and Gunnar Myrback of Quincy, a converted center who will be the starting blocking back in place of the ailing Phil Sheridan. Franny Murray of Winchester and Joe Das of New Bedford complete the starting backfield.

CINCINNATI ELEVEN PLAYS BEARS AT FENWAY PARK SUNDAY

Columbus Bulls, play their second game of the season against the Cincinnati Bengals at Fenway Park on Sunday.

Following the Bengals on Sunday, the three other league teams—the New York Yankees, the Buffalo Indians and the Milwaukee Chiefs—come to Boston to oppose the Bears at Fenway Park on successive Sundays.

Huskies' X Team Makes Debut

Northeastern's promising cross-country team opens its season tomorrow against powerful University of Connecticut at Storrs. The Nutmeggers' second in the New England last year, and have their four top scorers back. Capt. Sam Drevitch of Roxbury will lead the Northeastern barriers. Top runners include Dick Carpenter of Fairhaven, Ed Parker of Arlington.

Possibly the only good thing about the war is that thousands of Americans have discovered that Trommer's White Label Beer beats any imported beer they ever tasted! Choicest hops, Barley-malt only (no other grain added!). Nearly 50 years of "knowing how" to brew beer the Old World way. That's White Label—the beer that's largely taking the place of imported beers.

Collyer Picks L. S. U. Over H. C.

Collyer is picking Louisiana State to win from Holy Cross in their football battle tomorrow night at Baton Rouge.

Harvard is the selection over Amherst, while Princeton is favored to beat Vanderbilt. Knoxville is the football capital of America this weekend. Nestled among the Great Smoky Mountains, Knoxville is where the grid titans of the South, Tennessee and Duke, clash Saturday. Overshadowing all games carded throughout the nation for this day, the Blue Devil-Vol feud attracts the eyes of 20,000,000 grid addicts. It is the game that may decide whether Duke or Tennessee is the kingpin of the South, and it may go a long way toward determining the mythical national championship.

With even money quoted, this definitely is a tossup game. We are taking Duke. Here are some of the Collyer choices: Louisiana over Holy Cross; Harvard over Amherst; Army over Williams; Boston University over Upsala; Brown over Rhode Island; Fordham over West Virginia; Navy over Cincinnati; New York U. over Lafayette; Princeton over Vanderbilt; Yale over Virginia; Clemson over North Carolina State; Duke over Tennessee; Texas Christian over Arkansas; St. Mary's over California; Notre Dame over College of Pacific; Northwestern over Syracuse; Middlebury over Dartmouth; Northeastern over America Int.; Southern over Stanford U.; Wesleyan over Bowdoin.

Purple Lineup Still in Doubt

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4—The Holy Cross football squad arrived here today for that all-important intercollegiate clash with Louisiana State University to be played tomorrow night under the floodlights.

As Coach Joe Sheeketski puts the polishing touches on, he is still undecided on his starting lineup, whether to start his shock troop team or his No. 1 eleven. With Walter Roberts, sophomore right end, still bothered with a charley horse, the probabilities are that Dick Hamilton, double duty performer at center and end, may be the starting right end. It is expected that Roberts will play but there is some concern about his starting the game. The floodlight contest will be the first played by a Holy Cross team in the history of the institution.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games, to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter this contest, excepting employees of the Record-American and their families. The selections are filled on the short form, which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie, place the letter "T" in the space nearest the names of the two teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predicted a tie. Write winners' and losers' average scores in space provided in margin. Do not write individual scores in space, or on the margin. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and three divide the total by the number of teams competing.

You may enter as many sets of selections as you like. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American, not later than midnight, Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Fractions of 1/100 point will be made from copies in the public library, or in the Record-American office. Each entry will be acceptable, and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits correct selections $100.00 will be awarded the person whose average score is nearest the actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of selections is entered, $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, the contestants submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the most largest number of correct selections and whose average scores most nearly match the actual average scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decisions of the judges in all cases shall be final.

All entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1987, Boston, Mass. in the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed then that

WILL DUROCHER PILOT DODGERS IN '41?

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4 (INS)—Baseball fans' interests were divided here between the "World Series" and the rapidly growing crisis between Larry McPhail, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and his manager, Leo "Lippy" Durocher. The latest incident in the McPhail-Durocher feud occurred here when the fiery president reportedly offered Tom Sheehan, manager of Minneapolis, Durocher's post. Sheehan held a conference with McPhail, but allegedly left the meeting without giving an answer. The Brooklyn trouble, brewing for a long time, suddenly flared up in the open Wednesday when Mc-

Phail and Durocher engaged in a heated argument after the latter was hit for a planned meeting between the two. The meeting was called to discuss the possibilities of changing some players in the draft. Following some hot words, Durocher left Cincinnati in a huff.

Newark Seeks Third Straight Victory

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4 (INS)—The powerhouse Newark Bears go after their third straight win in the "Little World Series" against Louisville's Colonels here tonight. The International League champions won their second game last night on straight power, two home runs affording them the margin of victory. The score was 3 to 2. Louisville, carrying the banner of the American Association in the series, was held to seven hits by George Barley, while the Bears rapped "Big Jim" Weaver, who went the route, for 12. After tonight's action, the teams move on to Newark.

TWO MEN AND A HORSE AT ROCK—Jack Webb, trainer for Benjamin N. Kane, prominent New England furniture dealer, shakes hands with Jockey Robin Adair after signing the brilliant young man to a three-year contract. Halcyon Boy looks on approvingly. They will all play a part in the 36-day fall meeting which opens at Rockingham Park on Monday.

WILSON GIVES CREDIT TO 'HIS BOY' BUCKY

DETROIT, Oct. 4 (INS)—Jimmy Wilson might have been around today saying "I told you so" but instead he was content to sit back and chuckle over what Bucky Walters did to the Detroit Tigers.

Walters is his "boy"—his creation of a near record-breaking World Series winner out of a discouraged seat-of-the-pants third baseman.

Six years ago Wilson, as manager of the lowly Phillies, could not have known when he capied Walters into trying pitching that he would some day catch Walter's first World Series triumph—that 3-hit win over the Terrible Tigers.

Fat and forty, but as exuberant as a sophomore, Wilson sat back on his haunches and called them. Walters took his furious windups and let fly to send back without hits all the Tigers except Gehring, Greenberg and Huggins, who garined the Tigers' three singles.

Walters, the National League's most valuable player last year when he won 27 games and helped pitch the Reds into their first World Series in 29 years, gave Wilson full credit for his accomplishment.

"I was just out there throwing them," Bucky said.

"Jimmy did the calling and catching, my part was easy."

But Wilson isn't the kind of guy to grab the limelight.

"Boy, did I see that Bucky pouring them in there that night," he asked. "Pitchers ain't made, they're born."

WITH BEES, SOX

Walters' career reads like a Merriwell tale. He started his minor league career with High Point in the Piedmont League in 1929 and all but broke up the ball club with his will heaves from the hot corner.

From High Point, he floated to Providence, to Wilmington, to the East in Narragansett, then down again to Montreal, back to Boston, to the Coast with the Mission Club, to Boston of the American League and finally to the Phillies where he met Wilson—the turning point in a very shifty previous career.

What he did yesterday was to pitch a game under the best heat in the history of the major.

Walters is 31 years old, a six-

HOLY CROSS will meet a severe football test when it plays the Louisiana State University eleven at Baton Rouge, La., tomorrow night under the lights. Coach Joe Sheeketski's Purple Crusaders are particularly anxious to win in order to keep step with Boston College which won from Tulane so impressively last Saturday.

JOE SHEEKETSKI

Kavanaugh has graduated, and so will not be around to annoy Holy Cross.

Louisiana, like Holy Cross, will have a young club on the field. There are only 14 lettermen on the Louisiana squad, and of these only four have twice won their "L's." The squad has an abundance of promising looking sophomores who will receive their baptism of fire under the flood lights in tomorrow night's game.

John Walter Goree, twice named as All-Southern Conference guard, will be in the game for Louisiana. Goree weighs 195 pounds and is one of the greatest blocking guards in football.

Charles Anastasio, wingback star, is a major league baseball prospect as well as a gridiron star.

Lee Bird, who tossed eight touchdown passes to Kavanaugh during the 1939 season, is still at Louisiana State. Coach Bernie Moore rates Bird as one of the best passers in college football.

Developed Jack Torrance as Shotputter

COACH MOORE has the distinction of having coached a championship football team and also a title track team. In 1936, Louisiana State under Moore's coaching was given the Deke Houlgate trophy, an award that goes to the national champion, while in 1933 at Chicago he won the national intercollegiate track and field championship with a five-man team.

Moore's elevens have won six out of the last seven Southeastern Conference championships. In track, he developed three world's record holders, Glenn Hardin, quarter-miler and hurdler; Jack Torrance, shot putter, and Al Moreau, high hurdler. Torrance later went in for boxing and carried a "white hope" tag, but he soon found out it was easier to toss weights than to take heavy punches on the chin.

A New England boy is one of the stars on the Louisiana team. He is Edward Toczykowski, 198-pound quarterback from Lynn. Under the system employed by Coach Moore, "Tozy" will be used as a blocking back. Late reports from Baton Rouge state that the Lynn youngster has shown to advantage on those occasions when he has had an opportunity to get into the game.

With the Holy Cross game scheduled for tomorrow night, thousands of people will drive from New Orleans to see the contest. The Boston College victory over Tulane has made Southern fans New England conscious as far as football is concerned.

There is no longer any prejudice in the South against Northern football teams. Big league baseball clubs and touring athletes from the North have done much to eliminate the old feeling that existed.

There are now thousands of boys from the North in the leading Southern colleges. Many of these youngsters are star athletes and they are very popular with the students.

Holy Cross, like Boston College, would like to get a bid to play in the Sugar Bowl game on New Year's Day. It will be necessary for the Crusaders to win from Louisiana State if they are to remain in the running.

CORNELL NAMED OVER COLGATE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Aiming at the week's football winners and maybe hitting a few:

TENNESSEE-DUKE: Two great southern powers in Saturday's stand-out game, marked by a renewal of the personal rivalry between Bob Neyland and Wallace Wade. Tennessee no longer has Cafego and Duke lacks George McAfee but both have man-power to burn. The coin spins and says... Tennessee.

MINNESOTA-NEBRASKA: Another even-steven affair.

CORNELL-COLGATE: Cornell's unbeaten Ivy Leaguers of 1939 return to the football wars lacking only one regular from last year. Colgate nearly beat the Ithacans a year ago and is better fortified this time. Still, Cornell.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA-OREGON STATE: That draw the Trojans played with Washington State last week was a shock. Maybe it was the well-known hand-writing on the wall. A flier on Oregon State.

PRINCETON-VANDERBILT: The visiting Commodores should find out whether Princeton is as good as fented. Until the returns are in, Princeton.

OHIO STATE-PURDUE: Those Buckeyes look like the goods. Ohio State.

INDIANA-TEXAS: One of the toughest of them all. Ho McMillin may have a sleeper at Indiana this year, but the choice here is Texas.

MICHIGAN-MICHIGAN STATE: Tommy Harmon need be only half as good as he was last week. Michigan.

SANTA CLARA-U. C. L. A.: A sheer guess, Santa Clara.

YALE-VIRGINIA: No surprise either way. Out of the hat. Yale.

PENN-MARYLAND: Looks like Penn.

STANFORD-OREGON: S t a n f o r d looked all right in its first game under Clark Shughnessy last week. Another nod to the Indians.

LOUISIANA STATE-HOLY CROSS: Don't risk any fortune on this. Out comes the coin and reads... Holy Cross.

FORDHAM-WEST VIRGINIA: Fordham, but it might be very close.

TULANE-AUBURN: It's hard to believe Tulane is as bad as it looked against Boston College. Put it down to sheer stubbornness but this vote goes to Tulane.

TEMPLE-GEORGETOWN: One guess is as good as another. Georgetown.

NOTRE DAME-COLLEGE OF PACIFIC: Apparently A. A. Staggs bringing the Far Westerners into South Bend mostly for educational purposes. Notre Dame.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY-LA. FAYETTE: N. Y. U.

CHAMPION 1-3 CHOICE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong weighed in at 142 pounds today for his 15-round title bout at Madison Square Garden tonight with Fritz Zivic of Pittsburgh. Zivic scaled 145½.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (INS) — Broadway bookies today established Henry Armstrong as a 1-3 favorite to retain his welterweight boxing title which he defends for the 20th time this evening in New York in a 15-round bout with Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh veteran. Zivic, the youngest of five fighting brothers, and the first ever to get a chance at a championship, openly declared he "was going to rough the champ up a bit." Henry usually can dish out as much as his opponent.

"I am almost glad the odds are against me," said Zivic, who will be making his 150th professional start. "I always fight best when I'm the underdog. In my last fight with Sammy Angott (recognized N. B. A. lightweight champion), the odds were against me and I won easily. I'll do the same against Armstrong."

Police Ruin Scalpers' Day

DETROIT, Oct. 4 (AP)—Fifty detectives, plus patrolmen in plain clothes and private officers, prevented a large number of World Series scalpers from disposing of their wares outside Briggs stadium this afternoon.

Scalpers lined the east side of Trumbull ave. across from the stadium but reported they were having little success in getting the desired $10 to $20 a ticket and could not sell nearer the stadium gates because of the police.

"Hello, Dears"

Happy is the reunion of Mrs. Mildred Chandler and her twin daughters, Joyce and Janice, at the children's temporary home in Everett, where they are staying while she battles divorce and custody suit of Milton H. Chandler, 24, in Middlesex Court. Recess of hearing gave her an opportunity to visit the youngsters. Case resumes Monday.

Wild Toss—Streaking back safely to second base goes Eddie Joost, Reds' keystone sacker, as Charlie Gehringer (center) and Dick Bartell leap in vain for Tebbetts' throw. Ball went into center field and Joost advanced to third. Action was in second inning of second Series game at Cincinnati.
